JASPER T. MORRIS

Jasper Morris, professor of the physical sciences, is retiring after a 27-year teaching career at Potomac State College.

Born in Shaw, West Virginia, Professor Morris attended Elk Garden High School (diploma, 1938), Potomac State College (A.A., 1947), and West Virginia University (B.S., 1948 and M.A., 1952). He has also attended Denver University, the University of North Carolina, Texas A. & M., and the University of Tennessee.

Professor Morris was employed as a coal miner and high school teacher. At the outbreak of World War II, he volunteered for the U.S. Navy in April, 1942. He received his training in electronics and was assigned to the heavy cruiser, U.S.S. Wichita. He was assigned to this ship for the duration of the war.

Jasper started teaching at Potomac State in 1960 as an Assistant Professor, then Associate Professor. He is currently a full Professor of Chemistry and Physical Science and the recipient of four grants from the National Science Foundation, one grant from Oak Ridge Associated University, and several times winner of PSC's Teacher of the Year Award.

Professor Morris is a member of the First Methodist Church and a Sunday School Teacher there.

He and his wife Arbutus Allamong Morris have five children, a daughter-in-law, a son-in-law, and three grandchildren. Professor Morris, his wife, and four children have graduated from PSC and WVU, and David, the youngest child, will graduate from Potomac State in May and go on to WVU. Son-in-law Hobart Harmon is also a graduate of Potomac State and WVU. Daughter-in-law Monica, a native of Pennsylvania, graduated from a college in her home state.

Upon retirement, Jasper plans to enjoy his hobbies of restoring old furniture, collecting bottles, gardening, and spoiling three grandchildren.

HOMER W. ROY

Born in Cumberland, Maryland, Homer Roy retired in September 1986 after 18 years of service at Potomac State.

Mr. Roy attended Bedford (Pennsylvania) Grade School and Keyser High School before his employment as a scrap metal worker with Faulk Brothers.

Homer began at PSC as a milk processor for two years before becoming the supervisor of the Lower Farm in Gerstell Hollow. During his career in farming, Homer earned a meat cutter certificate.

Homer and his wife Mabel (McNeill) have nine children and 15 grandchildren.

Mr. Roy is a member of the Raymond Dawson FOP, the Knights of Pythias #25, and American Legion Post #41. He is also a member of the PTL Club and the Sunnyside Church of the Brethren.

LILY K. SMITH

Lily Smith is retiring from service to Potomac State College after 17 years as a custodian in the residence halls and the Administration Building.

Mrs. Smith attended Keyser Elementary School and Keyser High School before her employment at Wildemann's Cleaning Plant for 15 years and Harmon's Store for four years.

Lily serves as a volunteer at the Heartland Nursing Home, Keyser, and she is a member of the A.A.R.P.

Lily has two sons and five grandchildren.
